NATIONAL ALLIANCE HEALTH WARNING #3
Whites should practice racial distancing as well as social distancing. Black areas have three times the COVID-19 infection rate of White areas, and six times the death rate. The government won't warn you, but the National Alliance will.

New National Alliance Sticker and Flier

Some, but not all Alliance members have been suffering from cabin fever and "quarantine fatigue" from the government-imposed, shelter-in-place or stay-at-home restrictions. These restrictions are already being lifted in some areas as this issue of the BULLETIN goes to press, but it will be a while before things return to "normal" — as if things have been normal for Whites in decades. One important statistic that has surfaced during this so-called pandemic is the disparity in its adverse effects on Blacks and Mestizos compared to Whites. For various reasons, likely including both genetics and behavior, the Blacks and Browns are affected at a disproportionately higher percentage. So the National Alliance has sounded the alarm — for more than just "social distancing," but for common-sense racial distancing to increase safety for our people. Media are saturated 24/7 these days with scary reports about the pandemic. Search nationalvanguard.org for 'COVID-19' or 'coronavirus' to read our more sober view of the crisis; read this article online for some positive reporting to offset the constant gloom and doom: archive.is/zWESR

Distribute the enclosed stickers and fliers with the National Alliance's message of racial distancing (available here: natall.com/fliers/) as far and as wide as possible in the coming months while this health crisis winds down, if it does — but before the Politically Correct term "social distancing" loses its cachet. The term "social separation" was bandied about for a short while during the virus scare; but the media masters and government health officials eventually realized it was perhaps a little too close to our own term, "racial separation," so it was soon dropped.

Cosmotheist Books

Cosmotheist Books has been wanting to add Professor Arthur Butz's The Hoax of the 20th Century: The Case Against the Presumed Extermination of European Jewry to our online bookstore for a while now. We are happy to report receipt of a supply of the latest, updated and enhanced 545-page edition of Hoax, long considered the seminal work of "Holocaust" revisionism. Two other of the latest revisionist titles are also being added this month: Auschwitz — A Three-Quarter Century of Propaganda : Origins, Development and Decline of the "Gas-Chamber" Propaganda Lie by Carlo Mattogno (2018); and Cyrus Cox's Auschwitz — Forensically Examined (2019).

Also added in April are Billy Kennedy's 2018 biography Andrew Jackson: The First Scotch-Irish President; the unabridged Dover edition of William Shakespeare's quintessential tragedy, Hamlet; The Secret of the Runes, by the German occult expert and scholar of Indo-European linguistics and Germanic mythology Guido von List (1848-1919), edited, introduced and translated by Stephen E. Flowers, PhD.

Four more children's books were listed: a large format edition of Perrault's Fairy Tales (Sleeping Beauty, Cinderella, Little Red Riding Hood, etc.), with 34 full-page illustrations by Gustave Doré; and three nice, large format, educational and entertaining coloring books by Dover: History of Flight and Story of the Vikings, both by A.G. Smith, and the Celtic Animals Coloring Book by Mallory Pearce.

No sooner do we announce that Cosmotheist Books customers can now again use credit cards, as we've done in the last few issues of the BULLETIN, than that widely accepted practice that is available to all other online shoppers is once again denied to our customers. We'll keep trying to secure an online credit card processing service that won't capitulate to pressure from Jewish "hate watchdog" groups. Meanwhile orders by mail still work. Follow the instructions at cosmotheistchurch.org/shop/ and mail to the address on the masthead of this BULLETIN.

Legal Update

There is not a lot to report lately as Alliance-related court cases slowly work their way through a judicial system that is more or less shut down due to the virus scare. Chairman Williams' 12-page complaint with the West Virginia State Bar against his ineffective defense counsel was received by the Office of Disciplinary Counsel. Attorney Laura Finch responded, rather weakly, as expected, and Williams countered that with an 18-page clarification, pointing out how unresponsive Finch's defense was to the specifics of his complaint against her; how she worked for the court and against her wrongly-convicted client instead of defending him. Finch received copies of both Williams' complaint and the follow-up. She may be given the opportunity by her governing agency to explain why she told the Disciplinary Counsel, among other things, that "Mr. Williams is an unpopular figure," one she would not have taken on as a client had she known the extent of his unpopularity. It's unpopular figures, and unpopular speech and opinions, that need defending the most. Williams was railroaded because of who he is, his position, not because of the nonexistent merits of the false claims made by an unhinged coup-plotter against him. It is known that attorneys look out for their own, but if there is any justice in West Virginia, the Office of Disciplinary Counsel will appoint an investigator to look into the well-documented, specific charges of unethical conduct brought against one of their own. No action has been taken as yet against the judge or the special prosecutor who also had complaints filed against them by Chairman Williams; they will likely get a pass, as expected, but the complaints are on the record and can be published in the book Pocahontas Show Trial, should it come to that.

Meanwhile, the false misdemeanor criminal conviction of Williams for battery is under appeal to the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals. Progress in any legal actions affecting the National Alliance, including the 16-year struggle with the Canadian courts over the substantial bequest left to the National Alliance by our late member

Robert McCorkill, and the Alliance's $850,000 counterclaim against the co-administrators of the estate of John McLaughlin, will be reported here in the BULLETIN as we receive news.

Correspondence

Chairman Williams, as you know we had April showers here in West Virginia for quite a few days this month. So on some down time I decided, with your permission, to create a National Alliance Instagram page @cosmotheistcommunity. I'm sure it won't last too long because Jew-owned Facebook also owns Instagram. But even if I only get one new member, it'll be well worth it. Fortunately I have already had a few healthy conversations with prospective members. Now, here at the end of April, we have over 200 people following, and it's only been up for two weeks. There are many young people on the Internet that are very aware of our Jewish problem. It is encouraging to see our youth awakened on this platform. Surely a few will turn out to be great future members. Also look for our Bitchute video channel to be up and running shortly. There are so many Internet platforms these days, we should be using as many as possible to get our voices heard. All of our members should be doing everything they can to bring up the National Alliance in conversations with like-minded people, to spread our message and bolster our numbers. Members should post our fliers from natall.com/fliers and keep active despite being "sheltered at home."

I am proud to report for the BULLETIN that last weekend my family and I helped move the tractor, loader, and backhoe with you and others down to our Tennessee property. We had a lovely lunch made by Mrs. Williams and got to see first-hand all the work that has been going on to prepare the property for the William Luther Pierce Memorial Library. The tractor will be a big help with excavating, road maintenance, bush-hogging and so much more — a great machine! Spring is a busy time in Nature. Our people feel the time of renewal and rebirth. Get out and get active. Whether outside or on the Internet, do something every day for our cause and for our organization! And as always, as you so eloquently put it, maintain racial distancing. — Donald MacMullen, West Virginia

Hey, Chairman Will, thanks for the latest National Alliance BULLETIN. I was disappointed to read about Kelvin Pierce's new book. It brings to mind Derek Black's familial betrayal, along with other less egregious examples among White activist families. Raising spiritually healthy children is extremely difficult these days. A huge problem is that we don't have a real-life community that would provide multiple role models to reinforce our values. Under present conditions my guess is that the "hard sell" doesn't work in the long run with kids today. One idea might be to simply give children a strong, positive racial identity and let them educate themselves on the details. You own the truths you've discovered yourself.

On a different topic, I'm planning to drive east this summer for a family reunion. I thought I might make a detour south to Tennessee and drop off a few boxes of books that could be of value to the WLP Memorial Library. Of course the corona scare has put almost everything into question for a while, but I thought I'd throw that idea out to you. Hope you and Lana are doing well. Best regards, — N.R., North Dakota

Chairman Williams responds: I look forward to your visit, N.R. You'll see our Cosmotheist Community already has a foothold here, more or less waiting to be inhabited and expanded by our followers. The William Luther Pierce Memorial Library and Research Facility will be the centerpiece, and a learning center for children and adults alike. Though William Pierce didn't coin the phrase "build it and they will come," that is what he had in mind when he built the first Cosmotheist Community. As society and the nation break down further, more like-minded people will be attracted to our community and our creed and will commit to relocating with their families.

Dear National Alliance: I just wanted to thank you guys for what you're doing. Gives me hope for our children's future. I found you guys about a year ago, and read and listen to you now quite a bit. I will start to give some money as I feel guilty listening to your great content and not supporting your work. I hope you are spreading your message far and wide. Our people are waking up, I believe. How can anyone believe the lies that they push about you guys? I know I don't. Anyway thanks so much for what you do. I realize you risk your very freedom and life putting this content out. These [Jews] are pure evil. — G.J. (in a typical letter to natall.com)

What a novel idea: "please insert card."

I'm 26 years old and live in upstate New York. I've recently had a truly insightful and illuminating awakening in regards to the White race and where my role fits in with the preservation, expansion, and continuation of it... New York is absolutely horrendous when it comes to gun laws and quite frankly anything dealing with politics. Too long we've been burdened by the minority-ridden, Jew-infested cesspool that is New York City, whose left-limping majority unfortunately speak for the rest of the state. [Governor] Cuomo exacerbates everything else. I've just recently joined the National Alliance and thoroughly enjoy reading nationalvanguard.org... I'm currently reading The Turner Diaries, Might is Right, March of the Titans: A History of the White Race, and Nature's Eternal Religion. I just received today the Power of Truth nine-CD set of William Pierce recordings and am going to start listening to them tonight. Those [look like] a good introduction to Dr. Pierce and Cosmotheism.

Mr. Williams, what are your thoughts on transcribing each audio file so that each track has a corresponding transcript? I have a couple ideas on how to go about doing it and I could send the finished master transcript in a pdf form or txt file? I'm looking forward to being a part of this community and both expanding and raising my racial consciousness [and help give] some glimmer of hope to our people in this short span of life, during these dark times. — N.M., New York, via whitebiocentrism.com

Chairman Williams responds: Welcome to our Alliance, N.M. That is quite a selection of material you've ordered from our online bookstore. Immerse yourself in that and you'll be on the fast track to understanding our cause. As for transcribing audio to text, that is a painstaking exercise, that in most cases with Dr. Pierce's talks has already been done. Search for the 180 Power of Truth titles on nationalvanguard.org by name and you'll find many of the text versions. There may be a few still left to transcribe. We appreciate your spirit of volunteerism. I'm sure we can find suitable tasks with which you can help us.

Photos of Activism

"Photos of Activism" is a new topic on our White Biocentrism (whitebiocentrism.com) forum. Activists are invited to register at White Biocentrism and add any photos they have taken that advance our cause. After seeing the photo on the previous page, Chairman Williams couldn't help but put an Alliance card on the pump yesterday as he gassed up. Be creative. Share your activism photos.

Commentary by Chairman William White Williams

Who Not to Recruit

In the last five issues of the BULLETIN I have republished essays on five of the six types of people that Dr. William Pierce described and told National Alliance members not to recruit into our organization: the "hobbyist," the "talker," the "gung-ho loudmouth," the "amoral person," and the "freak."

We conclude this six-part series with what Dr. Pierce described as the "constitutional loser."

The constitutional loser: There are people who may not fall into the previous five categories, but who nevertheless are severely defective. One indication of such a person may be a history of personal failure. Most of us fail occasionally, but we try again, and eventually we succeed. The constitutional (or "born") loser is a person who, because of defective character, fails at most things.

The most common defect in a loser is an inability to criticize or blame himself — and therefore, an inability to improve himself. When a loser fails at something, it is never his fault, but always someone else's. He never asks himself, "What did

I do wrong? How can I overcome the weakness which caused this failure, so that I can do better next time?" Instead he looks for someone else or some external condition to blame for his failure.

Unfortunately, constitutional losers may be hard to identify at first meeting. Some of them are personable, occasionally even charming. Some are moderately intelligent. Often they are willing workers in a team or group setting. One clue to look for, besides a history of failure, is excessive negativism: the person who is always complaining about everything and everybody is likely to be a loser. Another clue is a manipulative or parasitic personality: the person who habitually tries to get other people to do things for him by flattery or "stroking" is likely to be a person who is not accustomed to doing things himself. Finally, any person who seems able to function only in an institutional or group setting should be suspect: whether the setting is the U.S. Army or a group of bosom buddies, all too often the person needs a support group around him and is at a loss when left on his own.

The danger in having a constitutional loser in the National Alliance is not that he is likely to fail at an assigned task, but that he certainly will blame the National Alliance or its leadership rather than himself when he does fail at something — even at a marriage or some other strictly personal endeavor — and henceforth will be hostile. When a loser leaves the National Alliance, either voluntarily or involuntarily, in his mind it will not be the consequence of his own shortcomings but those of the National Alliance; it will be the National Alliance which has failed him, rather than the other way around. And to vindicate himself he will do anything he can do to damage the National Alliance; if he can make it fail, then his personal failure is not so painfully apparent, and he can even see himself as a person with enough foresight to get off of a sinking ship while there was still time. Hell hath no fury like that of a loser trying to avoid blaming himself for his failure.

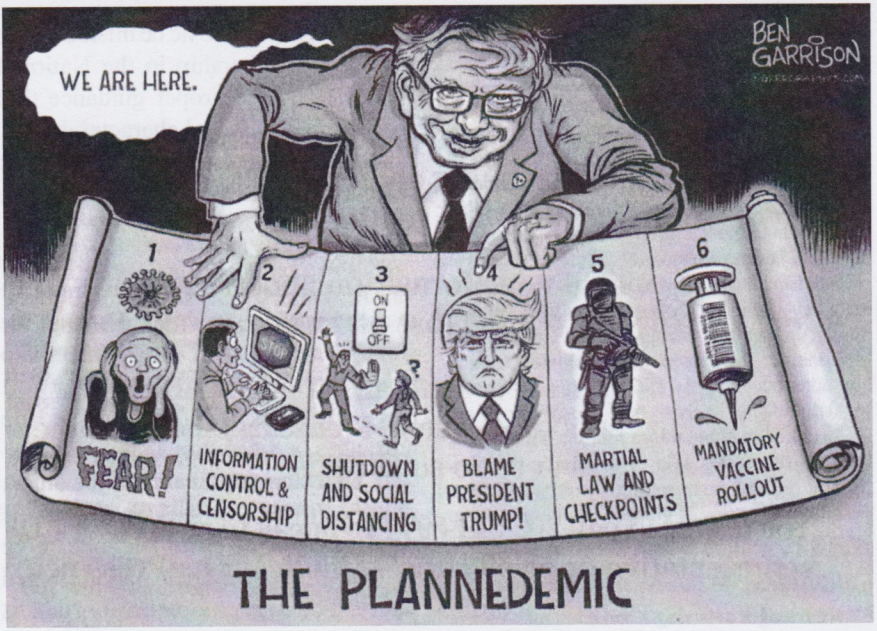
Those six types do not define all of the negative traits that the Alliance recruiter should beware of in a prospect, but does cover most of them. An Alliance recruiter should never yield to the temptation to bring a defective person into our organization merely to build our numbers. Nor should he be misled by the idea that membership in the National Alliance and the proper guidance that come with it will heal character defects in our recruits; that may sometimes work with children under the age of four, but it never works with adults.

The importance of keeping defective people out of our ranks cannot be overemphasized. It is not just that we want to be proud of our membership in an elite organization, nor is it just that some types of defective people are nuisances or distractions rather than assets. Defective members are the single greatest threat to the success or even the survival of the National Alliance, more so than the government or organized Jewry. For every organization that is brought to grief by a spy, an infiltrator, or a provocateur, a dozen are wrecked by a member with a severe character flaw.

Don't Let the Plannedemic Retard Activism and Recruiting

The near-national restrictions that most Americans have been under during the past couple of months are loosening and likely coming to a close in the next month or so. One or two Alliance members, or someone in their families, may have actually contracted the dread Chinese virus, or some other strain of influenza lately — it is the flu season, after all — but nearly all of our members are unaffected, particularly those of us in rural areas. Sometimes political cartoons, such as those shown on the next page, express what has actually been going on better than the government and the controlled media do.

Here in Upper East Tennessee,



Johnson County, for example, where our National Office is located, had the son of the owner of the local country club not decided in February to take his private plane to New York City, we would likely have zero (0) of our county's citizens infected. He brought the Chinese virus back with him, got diagnosed as a carrier, then he and his wife were asked to "shelter" at their house. That's been the full extent of this flu here in our rural county: no hospitalizations whatsoever. Many practice their "social distancing" and some are seen wearing their masks like they are told by the government and media, but most do not. It has been business as usual for the most part except for the schools being closed. Our courthouse reopened a week ago after a short vacation.

The post-catastrophe era will be upon us shortly. Society will have been affected greatly, no doubt — perhaps for the better for us more racially conscious Whites. We will continue to promote racial distancing among our kinsmen who have enjoyed staying home with their families lately. Think of ways to promote our Alliance, whether online with Donny Mac's Instagram or Bitchute platforms, or with fliers and stickers. Report your deeds to the National Office. W. W. W.
